Mystery Picture

The question is --- "Who is it?" Does anyone recognize this couple? They are undoubtedly well known to older residents. One clue is the "community of Vera." There's undoubtedly an interesting story here, and perhaps you, as well as other readers, will be looking forward to solving the mystery (or at least reading) about Mr. and Mrs. ----- and their place in Appomattox county history.

Takes New & Old Equipment

L. E. Martin (above), crusher-foreman, holds one of the large rocks against a background of the new and the old equipment at Appomattox Lime Company, equipment which includes a primary crusher, silo storage of Hammermill feed, a small Hammer mill crusher, the Hammermill crusher building and screening and storage bin.

Quite A Container

Holding bin, at the Appomattox Lime Company will hold 1,000 tons of lime. The plant includes its own generator for on-the-spot electrical power.

On Wings

God is only a prayer away,
Just close your eyes and open your heart
And from your worries and cares depart.
Just yield yourself to the Father above.
And let him hold you secure in his love.
For life on earth grows more involved
With endless problems that can't be solved.
But God only asks us to do our best.
Then He will take over and finish the rest.
So when you are tired, discouraged and blue,
There's always one door that is open to you –
And that is the door to the "House of Prayer.'
And you'll find God waiting to meet you there –
And "The House of Prayer" is no farther away.
Than the quiet spot where you kneel and pray –
For the heart is a temple when God is there
As we place ourselves in his loving care.
For He hears every prayer and answers each one
When we pray in His name "Thy will be done.'
And the burdens that seemed too heavy to bear
are lifted away on The Wings of a Prayer.

Friends Of Academy Planning Fund Drive

Plans were made for the first campaign for funds for the Academy of Music by members of the board of the Friends of the Academy of Music at a meeting Thursday with Lida Holt of 1291 Langhorne Road. The drive will start within the next few weeks.

Dr. Robert Hailey, president, conducted the session and Miss Holt gave the financial report in the absence of Mrs. Nancy B. Pollok, treasurer. Mrs. D. Marvin Penny was named chairman of the nominating committee to select two board members. Reports were given by committee chairmen.

The Academy of Music is the first building in the city to be included on the National Register of Historic Places and is included in the register of Virginia Landmarks.

The theater will be used as a living theater, Dr. Hailey said, and as a theatrical museum. It will in no way compete with other institutions in the city but will complement them, he said.

The building is considered by experts to be a fine example of the Beaux Arts tradition. It has perfect acoustics and its history is interesting. The great actors, dancers, and concert artists of the early 20th century appeared there.

In addition to Dr. Hailey and Mrs. Pollok other officers are Sherry Coker, vice president; W.F.S. Gresham, second vice president and Mrs. Sigmora W. Staples, secretary.

The Big Tree Search Is On In Virginia

BLACKSBURG — The big tree search is on!

Jointly sponsored by Virginia Forests, Inc., and the Extension Division of Virginia Tech, the purpose of the search is to find the largest trees in the state.

"It is the kind of activity that the whole family can enjoy while they roam the great outdoors," said Will A. McElfresh, assistant professor and extension specialist in forestry at Virginia Tech.

The search will locate the largest of each of Virginia's 137 known tree varieties. To date, 33 champions have been located. Any trees in the state are eligible for nomination.

"We urge people to look around their homes and public buildings, in the woods, the parks and anywhere that trees are growing," McElfresh said. "The largest variety of each tree found can be nominated for Virginia's Social Register of Big Trees."

Nomination forms are available from extension agents throughout the state or from vocational agriculture teachers. To nominate a big tree, the finder need only to fill out the form, according to directions printed on the back of the form, and send it to Virginia Forests, Inc., 301 E. Franklin Street, Richmond, Va. 23219.

Virginia Forests, Inc., will receive and acknowledge all nominations. It will also screen them to separate the biggest from the big.

When a big tree has been selected, the finder will be notified. Later he will be visited by a local forester to assist in verifying the dimensions of the big tree. Trees selected for the Virginia Social Register of Big Trees will be considered for a place in a national big tree register in Washington, D. C.

Virginia already is in a America's biggest loblolly pine and the largest osage orange. The 128-foot loblolly pine in Dinwiddie County has a 16.5-foot girth. The 50-foot osage orange, with a 22-foot circumference, is located at Red Hill Plantation near Brookneal.

The big tree search was initiated in 1970 as a 4-H and FFA Club project. But due to the interest it generated, this year the search has been opened to all persons.

Eye Bank Helps 172 In Year

Richmond, Va. -- A total of 172 individuals have been given improved or restored eyesight in the past twelve months through the efforts of Old Dominion Eye Bank, according to the annual report of that organization issued recently.

The eye bank's annual report, presented to the group's Board of Directors by Board Chairman L. Paul Byrne, showed a record total of 256 eyes received by the eye bank through the eye donor program in the past fiscal year.

Of these, 118 were reported used to provide eye tissue for corneal transplants, and 67 for preserved corneas.

Of those which, for one reason or another, could not be used for transplant surgery, 53 were used for research, 9 for teaching, and 2 for pathology, according to the statistics reported.

Three eyes were recorded as being unusable and the doctor's report form had not been returned on the use of one eye received recently.

In addition to the 118 transplant operations in which fresh eye tissue was used, 54 temporary or partial grafts were performed with the use of preserved corneas, the report said.

Thus, the report concluded, 172 individuals had been helped to regain or improve their eyesight through the eye bank's program.

Old Dominion Eye Bank, which is completely supported by the Lions Clubs of Virginia, is also aided substantially by the Lions Club members in soliciting eye donors for its sight restoration program. Eye donor pledge cards can be secured from any member of a Lions Club.
